

Literature search: how to find a needle in a haystack

Emanuele Pecora

23 maggio 2018, ore 21.30
Scuola Superiore di Catania

More than 6000 scientific papers are published every day. The global amount of available scientific literature doubles every nine years. How do you find the paper you need for your thesis? How do you get up to speed on the state of the art in a given field? A discussion on scientific publications, impact factor, search engines for scientific journals, and some tricks on how to read and study a scientific paper.